Overview

Cambodia has a single taxation regime, known as the “self-assessment regime”, a formalized system of taxation and incentives, with taxpayers being subject to audits.

The General Department of Taxation (“GDT”) classifies taxpayers into three categories, as follows:

1. Small taxpayers are sole proprietorships or partnerships that:
 - Have annual turnover of from KHR250 million to KHR 1 billion (approx. US$62,500 to US$250,000) or annual total assets of from KHR200 million to KHR1 billion (approx. US$50,000 to US$250,000) for the agricultural, service, and trading sectors; or
 - Have annual turnover of from KHR250 million to KHR1.6 billion (approx. US$62,500 to US$400,000) or annual total assets of from KHR200 million to KHR2 billion (approx. US$50,000 to US$500,000) for the industrial sector; or
 - Have turnover for any three consecutive months of at least KHR60 million (US$15,000); or
 - Expect to have total turnover in the next three consecutive months of at least KHR60 million (US$15,000); or
 - Participate in any bidding or quotation for the supply of goods or services, including market stall management (Phasi).
2. Medium taxpayers are:
 - Entities that have annual turnover of:
 - More than KHR1 billion to KHR4 billion (approx. US$250,000 to US$1 million) for the agricultural sector; or
 - More than KHR1 billion to KHR6 billion (approx. US$250,000 to US$1.5 million) for the service and trading sectors; or
 - More than KHR1.6 billion to KHR8 billion (approx. US$400,000 to US$2 million) for the industrial sector; or
 - Entities that have annual total assets of:
 - More than KHR1 billion to KHR2 billion (approx. US$250,000 to US$500,000) for the agricultural, service, and trading sectors; or
 - More than KHR2 billion to KHR4 billion (approx. US$500,000 to US$1 million) for the industrial sector; or

- Entities that have been incorporated as a legal entity, representative office; or
- National and subnational government institutions, all types of organizations or associations, including non-governmental organizations; or
- Foreign consulates and embassies, international organizations, and technical cooperation agencies of other countries.

3. Large taxpayers are:

- Entities that have annual turnover:
 - Exceeding KHR4 billion (approx. US$1 million) for the agricultural sector; or
 - Exceeding KHR6 billion (approx. US$1.5 million) for the service and trading sectors; or
 - Exceeding KHR8 billion (approx. US$2 million) for the industrial sector; or
- Entities that have annual total assets:
 - Exceeding KHR2 million (approx. US$500,000) for the agricultural, service, and trading sectors; or
 - Exceeding KHR4 billion (approx. US$1 million) for the industrial sector; or
- Branches of foreign companies or subsidiaries of multinational companies; or
- Entities registered as Qualified Investment Projects (“QIPs”).

Anyone falling within one of the above categories is required to begin the tax registration process within 15 working days of commencing business activities or incorporation. One of the main hurdles in registering for tax is the GDT’s requirement that one of the principals of the entity appear in person at the GDT at the time of registration.

A taxpayer’s classification will determine the amount of patent tax that must be paid. Additionally, small taxpayers have fewer requirements when it comes to recordkeeping. Small taxpayers are permitted to use a simplified accounting system, whereas medium and large taxpayers are expected to keep proper accounting records and books in line with Cambodian Accounting Standards.

Tax service agents

Anyone offering tax services for entities other than their own employer must be licensed as a tax service agent (“TSA”) with the GDT.

On 23 March 2022, the Ministry of Economy and Finance (“MEF”), following up on previous legislation governing TSAs, issued Prakas 230 MEF.Prk to further clarify the requirements and obligations of TSAs or those who liaise with the GDT to fulfill a taxpayer’s tax obligations in Cambodia.

Changes include the requirement that TSAs provide the GDT with a list of staff who are providing tax services on a monthly basis (previously, it was only annually). In addition, taxpayers or withholding agents can now submit a protest to the GDT if a TSA is not fulfilling its obligations or providing tax services with professionalism and integrity.

Tax Audits

There are three types of tax audits, as follows:

- 1. Desk audit: A desk audit (“DA”) is defined as a re-examination of a tax return, done at the GDT’s office to identify any irregularity or inconsistency between the tax return and other information collected by the GDT that is relatively straightforward to solve. A DA can only be carried out within 12 months after the submission of the tax return. If the irregularity or finding is complex or considered high risk by the GDT, the DA will be terminated and replaced with a limited audit (“LA”).
- 2. Limited audit: An LA is a more in-depth re-examination of a taxpayer’s compliance with its monthly tax obligations (the annual Tax on Income (“TOI”) return can only be re-examined under a comprehensive audit (“CA”). An LA may involve an on-site audit at the taxpayer’s business premises and inspection of the tax returns, actual business activities, accounting records, and other relevant supporting documents. An LA can be carried out for the current tax year (termed as year “N”) and the immediately preceding tax year (N-1) only.
- 3. Comprehensive tax audit: A CA, as its name suggests, is a much more thorough re-examination of a taxpayer’s compliance with its tax obligations (including its annual TOI). A CA can be carried out for the current tax year and the previous three tax years (N-3) only. If there is actual evidence of tax evasion, or losses or tax credits brought forward from previous tax years that require the tax auditors to verify such information, a CA may be extended to include the previous five tax years (N-5). Where there is actual evidence of tax evasion that requires further examination of taxpayers’ records beyond the previous five years, a CA may be extended to cover the statutory period of limitations (which is 10 years per the Law on Taxation (“LOT”), with prior approval from the Minister of the MEF.

In principle, taxpayers will only be subject to one type of tax audit for any one tax year. If a taxpayer has obtained Gold compliance status, it will be subject to only one CA every two years and it will not be subject to an LA or DA. This CA however will cover two tax years. A taxpayer that has Silver status will be subject to only one CA every two years, an LA every year, and no DA. Gold taxpayers thus benefit from having to deal with only one CA team every two years.

Tax on Income

Residency

TOI applies to both residents and non-residents, however non-residents are taxed on income arising from Cambodian sources only, as opposed to residents, who are taxed on their worldwide income.

Legal persons are considered residents of Cambodia for tax purposes if their principal place of business is in Cambodia or if they are managed from Cambodia; therefore, a company incorporated in Cambodia is taxed as a resident.

A non-resident taxpayer will be deemed to be a Cambodian resident for tax purposes if such taxpayer is found to have a permanent establishment (“PE”) in Cambodia. In such a case, the non-resident will be subject to tax in Cambodia in respect of its Cambodian-sourced income only (which is an exception to the above).

Income derived from Cambodian-based activities or assets located in Cambodia is deemed to be from a Cambodian source, regardless of where the payment originated.

Rates of tax

The TOI rates are as follows:

TYPE	TOI RATE
Standard	20%
Oil or natural gas production sharing contract and the exploitation of natural resources, including timber, ore, gold, and precious stones	30%
Gross premiums received in the tax year for the insurance or reinsurance of property or risk in Cambodia	5%
Tax exemption period, such as for a QIP	0%

For insurance companies, the 5% on premiums applies only to non-life insurance or reinsurance, and life insurance or reinsurance that does NOT have any type of savings component. Income from any other activities, including the insurance or reinsurance of life that has a savings component, is taxed as normal at the standard 20% TOI rate.

Prepayment of Tax on Income

Taxpayers are subject to a Prepayment of Tax on Income (“PTOI”) calculated at 1% of monthly turnover. Note that this is not actually a separate tax; rather it is a prepayment of either Minimum Tax (“MT”) or TOI. The payment is made monthly and is offset against the MT or TOI, whichever is higher, due when the annual TOI return is filed at the year-end.

The term “turnover” is now defined and covers income from the main business activities and subsidiary income. Subsidiary income includes:

- Income from rented immovable property, whether or not the property is involved in the business activities.
- Immovable property given for use for free to a third party: It will be assumed that the taxpayer received taxable income equal to the rental market price for the property.
- Immovable property given for an employee’s private use for free: It will be assumed that the taxpayer received taxable income equal to the rental market price for the property except where the property is given for use by all employees in accordance with the provisions of the Labor Law.
- Royalties: Income from the exploitation of various intangible assets, such as patents, copyrights, models, franchises, brands, know-how, etc.
- Other subsidiary income, which includes mainly: income from the sale of scrap and waste, rental of business equipment, income from consigned packaging.

Tax exemption period

Foreign investors seeking to make significant investments into Cambodia outside of the sectors restricted by law may apply to the Council for the Development of Cambodia (“CDC”) for QIP status.

Most QIP companies benefit from a TOI exemption period (often referred to as a “TOI holiday”) during which investment activity income is exempt from both TOI and PTOI.

The tax exemption period can be from three years up to nine years depending on the industry and level of investment, and the period starts from when the first revenue is generated. Under the new Law on Investment dated 15 October 2021, after the TOI exemption period, the QIP is entitled to pay TOI at reduced rates for the subsequent six years as follows: 25% of the normal rate for the first two years, 50% for the next two years, and 75% of the normal rate for the last two years.

Calculation of taxable income

Taxable income must be calculated on an annual basis by adjusting the accounting income for expenses that are not deductible or are subject to limitation under the tax law, such as entertainment expenses.

Income included in calculating taxable income comprises business income from the operations of the entity, along with other types of income, such as capital gains from the disposal of assets, rental income, royalty income, and interest income.

Deductible expenses

As a general rule, expenses are deductible if they are paid or incurred in a tax year to carry on the business of the taxpayer. There are further provisions which disallow specific types of expenses, as follows:

TYPE OF EXPENSE	DEDUCTIBILITY
Personal expense	Non-deductible
Donations and grants (not including charitable contributions)	Non-deductible
Tax payments, tax penalties, and interest on penalties	Non-deductible
Loss on sale of property between related parties	Non-deductible
Expense not related to the business, extravagant expense of little use to the business	Non-deductible
Amusement, recreation, or entertainment expense	Non-deductible
WHT, TOS, and FBT paid on behalf of recipients	Non-deductible
Expense pertaining to previous or subsequent periods	Non-deductible
Provisions	Generally non-deductible, with some exceptions
Depreciation	Deductible when calculated using the method set out in the tax law
Unpaid expense due to unrelated parties	Deductible if it is a genuine liability

TYPE OF EXPENSE	DEDUCTIBILITY
Unpaid salary	Deductible if paid within 180 days after the end of the tax year
Related party expense that is not salary	Deductible if paid within 180 days after the end of the tax year to a related party who is under the self-assessment regime. Deductible if paid to a related party who is not under the self-assessment regime when the actual payment is made.
Interest expense	Deduction is limited to an amount equal to 50% of adjusted income without taking into account any interest income or expense, plus the interest income. Non-deductible interest expense can be carried forward for up to five years after the year the interest expense was incurred.
Charitable contribution	Deduction is limited to an amount equal to 5% of taxable income, before taking the charitable contribution deduction.

Deductible interest expense on loans with related parties

There is a further limitation on the deduction of interest expenses with regard to related parties. Loans from related parties are exempt from compliance with the arm's length principle if the entity has the following loan transaction supporting documents from the related party:

- Loan agreement that specifies the term of the loan and repayment plan;
- Business plan or current and forecasted financial statements along with the purpose of the borrowing and explanations; and
- Board of Directors' resolution (for an entity that is not a single member private limited company).

When an entity borrows money from a related party, the loan interest rate cannot exceed the market interest rate at the time of the borrowing. The market interest rate is issued annually by the GDT and is the average of the interest rates of at least five local commercial banks.

Deductible interest expense on loans with unrelated parties

For loan transactions with unrelated parties, the allowed tax-deductible interest rate is up to 120% of the market interest rate.

Depreciation

Under Cambodian tax law, depreciation rates and methods are specified based on the asset class, and therefore, only the depreciation expense allowed under the rate for the asset's particular class may be deducted in calculating taxable income.

	ASSET	DEPRECIATION RATE	DEPRECIATION METHOD
TANGIBLE PROPERTY	Class 1: i. Concrete buildings, roads, railways, and transport ships ii. Non-concrete buildings	5% 10%	Straight Line
	Class 2: Computers, electronic information systems, data handling	50%
	Class 3: Automobiles, trucks, office furniture and equipment	25%	Declining Balance
	Class 4: All other tangible assets	20%	Declining Balance

	ASSET	DEPRECIATION RATE	DEPRECIATION METHOD
INTANGIBLE PROPERTY	Having no specific useful life	10%	Straight Line
	Having a specific useful life	Over the useful life of the property	Straight Line

	DEPRECIATION METHOD
NATURAL RESOURCES	The balance of the natural resource account multiplied by the ratio of the quantity extracted during the taxable year to the total estimated extraction from the natural resources.

LONG-TERM AGRICULTURAL ASSETS	Rubber plantations		Straight Line
	Year 1 – 2	3%
	Year 3 – 4	4%
	Year 5 – 10	5%
	Year 11 – 12	7%
	Year 13 – 15	6%
	Year 16 – 19	5%
	Year 20	Remaining balance
	Agricultural plantations other than rubber plantations	Over useful life*	5%*	Straight Line
Animal husbandry	Over useful life*	10%*	Straight Line

Depreciation is calculated using either the straight-line depreciation method over the life of the harvest or a percentage per year (5% for agricultural plantations other than rubber plantations and 10% for animal husbandry), whichever is shorter.*

Instead of the tax exemption period, QIP companies may elect to benefit from a special depreciation rate of 40% in the first year of use of the asset in addition to the normal tax depreciation charge. This special depreciation rate applies only to tangible assets used in “manufacturing and processing” and the asset should be held for a minimum of four years, otherwise the QIP will be required to add back a portion of the depreciation expense.

Tax depreciation commences in the tax year when the asset is put into service or in the first year of production, and a full year of depreciation is taken (no matter what point in the year this occurs). No tax depreciation is claimed in the year of disposal.

Fixed assets in classes 2 to 4 are accounted for on a pooled basis, and therefore capital gains or losses on the disposal of fixed assets are not calculated individually but rather are calculated based on the result of the pooled asset account.

Utilization of losses

Tax losses can be carried forward for a maximum of five years (except for tax losses from petroleum and mineral resource operations, which are covered by separate rules). Losses cannot be carried back. If the following criteria are not met, the taxpayer may have to forfeit its tax losses:

- There has not been a change in business activity during the year; and
- There has not been a unilateral tax reassessment in that particular year.

Minimum Tax

MT is a separate and distinct tax from TOI, and is calculated at 1% of annual turnover. See the discussion under the “Prepayment of Tax on Income” section for what constitutes turnover.

A taxpayer will be subject to either TOI or MT, whichever is greater. Regardless of whether a taxpayer is subject to MT, monthly PTOI payments are still required to be made, which are similarly calculated at 1% of monthly turnover. The monthly PTOI payments can be credited against the MT or annual TOI liability, as applicable.

The GDT allows for an exemption from MT for all taxpayers maintaining proper accounting records, imposing MT only on taxpayers found to have “improper accounting records”. Prakas 638 details what are considered improper accounting records. In order to access the exemption, taxpayers must apply to the GDT for an evaluation of their compliance and written confirmation that they are maintaining proper accounting records.

Withholding Tax

Overview

Certain payments are subject to a withholding tax (“WHT”) that must be deducted by the payer at the time of payment. WHT is imposed at varying rates depending on the transaction type and whether the payment recipient is a resident or a non-resident.

WHT is a tax on the income recipient; however, the responsibility for deduction and making payment to the GDT is placed on the party that makes the payment, referred to as the “withholding agent”.

Resident WHT

Payments of certain Cambodian-sourced income by a resident taxpayer carrying on a business in Cambodia, to a Cambodian resident taxpayer, are subject to the following WHT:

TYPE OF PAYMENT TO A RESIDENT	RATE
Service payments (except payments to those registered for tax that are supported by a valid tax invoice, and for services of less than KHR50,000)	15%
Royalty payments	15%
Interest payments All interest payments other than the interest paid by a domestic bank.	15%
Rental payments (except payments to those registered for tax that are supported by a valid tax invoice) All rental payments made to residents that are not registered for tax.	10%
Interest paid by a domestic bank on fixed-term deposits	6%
Interest paid by a domestic bank on non-fixed-term deposits	4%

Non-resident WHT

WHT at the rate of 14% must be deducted from payments of Cambodian-sourced income made by a resident carrying on business (including a PE of a non-resident taxpayer) to a non-resident. Per Article 33 of the LOT, Cambodian-sourced income is any of the following:

- Interest paid by a resident entity, resident partnership, or governmental institution of Cambodia
- Dividends distributed by a resident entity

- Income from services performed in Cambodia
- Compensation for management or technical services paid by a Cambodian resident person
- Rent and other income related to movable or immovable property situated in Cambodia
- Royalties or usage rights to intangible property paid by a resident or paid by a non-resident through a PE they maintain in Cambodia
- Gains made from the sale of, or the transfer of any interest in, immovable property located in Cambodia, or capital gains from financial assets and investment assets in Cambodia, or capital gains from the transfer of any or all of the equity in the capital of an entity in Cambodia
- Premiums from the insurance or reinsurance of risks in Cambodia
- Gains from the sale of movable property that is part of the business property of a PE maintained by a non-resident taxpayer in Cambodia
- Income from business activities of a non-resident, conducted through a PE in Cambodia

If a double taxation agreement (“DTA”) is in force, reduced rates may be available. Please refer to the “Double Taxation Agreements” section for a list of the DTA signatory countries at the time of printing.

The liability for WHT rests with the withholding agent (i.e. the Cambodian payer). The GDT has no recourse to recover WHT from the recipient of the income payment. The WHT is payable at either the date the payment is made or the date the applicable transaction is recorded in the books, whichever comes first.

Advance Tax on Dividend Distribution

Advance Tax on Dividend Distribution (“ATDD”) is a mechanism that was set out under the LOT to ensure that dividend distributions made by a Cambodian company were subject to the appropriate TOI rate. Typically, most dividend distributions made by a Cambodian company come from retained earnings after TOI has been declared and paid; however, in some circumstances, the ATDD mechanism is used to ensure that TOI is paid at the time of the dividend distribution.

Note that the scope of a dividend distribution made by a Cambodian entity for tax purposes was expanded to include retained earnings and year-to-date earnings relating to a share transfer; this in turn has expanded the application of ATDD (see the next section on “Withholding taxes on undistributed dividends”).

Some items of note regarding ATDD are as follows:

- Dividends distributed by QIP entities to their shareholders during their TOI exemption period are not subject to ATDD.
- Remitted ATDD can be utilized as a tax credit in a taxpayer's annual TOI declaration for the tax year in which the ATDD was declared and paid.
- If the ATDD is higher than the annual TOI liability, the excess tax credit can be carried forward until it is fully utilized.
- ATDD also applies to the repatriation of profits by a Cambodian branch of an overseas principal if that distribution had not yet been subject to the applicable TOI rate in Cambodia.
- The repatriation of taxable income by a Cambodian branch to its overseas principal is considered as income from business activities carried out by a non-resident through a PE under Article 33(10) of the LOT and as such, would also be subject to WHT of 14%.

Withholding taxes on undistributed dividends

The main points regarding the expansion of the definition of what is considered a dividend distribution and the tax treatment are summarized below:

- The conversion of part or all of an entity's retained earnings into registered share capital is not considered to be a dividend distribution, and thus not subject to 14% WHT.
- The sale by an existing shareholder of shares that were previously converted from retained earnings is treated as a dividend distribution and subject to 14% WHT. The amount treated as a dividend distribution will not exceed the previously converted retained earnings.
- When a shareholder sells some or all of its shares, then the retained earnings (even though undistributed) attributable to such shares is treated as a dividend distribution and subject to 14% WHT.
- Any reduction in the registered share capital where such shares were previously converted from retained earnings is also considered to be a dividend distribution and subject to 14% WHT.

Deductibility of withholding taxes

WHT is a tax on the income recipient and not the withholding agent. Hence, if the WHT is not deducted from the payment and is borne by the withholding agent, it is not deductible by the withholding agent.

Tax on Salary

Overview

Employers are liable to deduct Tax on Salary ("TOS") from payments of salaries, wages, and other remuneration made to all employees. Employees that are tax residents of Cambodia are taxed on their worldwide employment income at progressive rates, whereas non-residents are taxed only on their Cambodian-sourced employment income at a flat rate.

Residency

An individual is considered as a resident for tax purposes if they fulfill any one of the following criteria: (1) their residence is in Cambodia; or (2) their principal place of abode is in Cambodia; or (3) they are present in Cambodia for more than 182 days in any period of 12 months ending in the current tax year.

Taxable salary

Salary as defined by the LOT includes "remunerations, wages, bonuses and overtime, compensations, and fringe benefits which are paid to an employee, or which are paid for the direct or indirect advantage of the employee for the fulfillment of employment activities".

Payments that are exempt from TOS include reimbursements of business expenses incurred by the employee on a work assignment, indemnity payments upon employee dismissal up to a limit, social security contributions, and uniforms and equipment required for the performance of employment duties.

Deductions

Deductions for dependent family members reduce the monthly taxable base on which TOS is calculated. A deduction of KHR150,000 per month (approximately US$37.50) applies for each minor dependent child under 14, or under 25 and in full-time education, and a deduction for the same amount applies for one non-working spouse.

Rates of tax

Non-residents are subject to TOS only on their Cambodian-sourced employment income at a flat rate of 20%. Residents are taxed on their worldwide employment income at the following progressive rates:

TAXABLE MONTHLY SALARY*
KHMER RIEL (KHR)	EQUIVALENT TO US$	PROGRESSIVE TAX RATE
From 0 - 1,500,000	0 - 375	0%
From 1,500,001 - 2,000,000	375 - 500	5%
From 2,000,001 - 8,500,000	500 - 2,125	10%
From 8,500,001 - 12,500,000	2,125 - 3,125	15%
Over 12,500,000	3,125	20%

*New rates effective starting on 1 January 2023.

Using an exchange rate of KHR4,000:US$1.

Fringe Benefit Tax

Employers may also provide employees with additional cash or in-kind employee benefits, such as home leave air tickets or private use of motor vehicles. These fringe benefits are subject to a flat Fringe Benefit Tax (“FBT”) of 20% on the market value of the fringe benefits provided to an employee.

Certain benefits provided to all employees are exempt from FBT. These include items such as meal allowances or transportation allowances. In order to benefit from this tax exemption, the employer is required to provide a notification to the GDT.

National Social Security Fund

Employers having one or more employees must register with the National Social Security Fund (“NSSF”) and make NSSF contribution on a monthly basis. The NSSF contribution is 0.8% of the employee’s average monthly salary up to a maximum contribution of KHR9,600 (approximately US$2.40) for work-related injuries and compensation for loss of earning capacity because of injuries sustained at work, plus 2.6% of the employee’s average monthly salary up to a maximum contribution of KHR31,200 (approximately US$7) for healthcare.

Value Added Tax

Overview

Value Added Tax (“VAT”) is applicable on the taxable supply of goods and services. An entity registered under the VAT provisions is required to charge VAT on all sales of taxable supplies (output VAT). Such entities can offset the VAT paid on purchases (input VAT) against their output VAT.

Scope of application

Taxable supplies are the supply of goods, services, or imports for taxable sale or for use in producing taxable supplies. Taxpayers must charge and collect VAT on taxable supplies. The supply of goods includes the transfer of the rights to movable property—meaning all property except land or money.

Sale of land and buildings

For the sale of land with buildings, registered taxpayers are required to charge VAT on the building component (but not on the land component).

Non-taxable goods and services

In order to promote the provision of certain key public services, specific taxable supplies have been exempted from VAT. The following is a list of non-taxable supplies under the LOT:

- Public postal services
- Hospital, clinic, medical, and dental services, and the sale of medical and dental goods incidental to the performance of such services
- Transportation of passengers by a wholly state-owned public transportation system
- Insurance services
- Primary financial services
- Imported articles for personal use that are exempt from customs duty
- Non-profit activities in the public interest that have been recognized by the MEF
- Education services
- The supply of electricity and clean water
- Unprocessed agricultural products
- Services related to the collection and/or cleaning of solid or liquid waste

If a business makes non-taxable supplies only, it will not be able to claim any input VAT; the VAT on purchases must be borne as a cost. If a business makes a mix of non- taxable and taxable supplies, it will be able to claim a portion of input VAT based on the portion of taxable supplies.

Prohibited input VAT

Under the LOT, VAT incurred on certain purchases may not be used as an input VAT credit for offsetting against output VAT. These are:

- Entertainment, amusement, and recreation expenses unless the taxpayer carries on a business as a provider of entertainment, amusement, or recreation
- Purchases or imports of automobiles, unless the taxpayer carries on a business dealing in, or hiring out such automobiles
- Purchases or imports of certain petroleum products, unless the taxpayer carries on a business as a supplier of such petroleum products
- Mobile phone use (input VAT is allowed only for telephone charges made from office desk phones)

Registration

Compulsory VAT registration applies to any self-assessment taxpayer who makes taxable supplies. Further, all companies, import/export businesses, and QIPs must register for VAT. Other taxpayers are required to register as VAT taxpayers if they meet certain turnover thresholds. Other businesses not compelled to register by law may register voluntarily; however, it is not possible for a non-resident to register voluntarily for VAT purposes, other than for VAT on e-commerce activities.

Taxpayers in Cambodia who are registered under the self-assessment regime are assigned a VAT tax identification number ("TIN"). Generally, such VAT TIN is used by the taxpayer in all of its tax filings in Cambodia.

Rates of tax

Taxable supplies made in or imported into Cambodia are subject to VAT at one of two rates:

TYPE OF SUPPLY	RATE
Standard rate	10%
Zero-rated supplies, which include: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Exported goods• Exported services• The supply of international transportation services• Services in support of the supply of international transportation• Other specific sectors, including supporting industries that supply the export-oriented garment, textile and footwear industries; the supply of rice; and the import and supply of certain goods for agricultural purposes	0%

Zero-rated supplies are not the same as non-taxable supplies, as it is possible for entities providing zero-rated supplies to claim input VAT credit.

Basis of taxation

For local supplies, the cost of the goods or services is the tax base. For imports, the tax base is the CIF value plus customs duty plus any Specific Tax on Certain Merchandise and Services ("ST").

Proper tax invoices

Taxpayers must issue valid tax invoices for all sales of taxable supplies. In order for a tax invoice to be considered valid, it must be in Khmer, or in both Khmer and English with the English written below the Khmer and must contain the following details:

- Entity name, address, and VAT TIN of the seller or supplier
- Sequential invoice number
- Date the invoice is issued
- Name, address, and VAT TIN of the buyer
- Description of the goods or services, and the quantities and selling prices of the goods or services
- The total price of each good or service, exclusive of VAT, and the total price must be in KHR
- Each tax amount, if the goods or services are subject to ST, Public Lighting Tax ("PLT"), or Accommodation Tax ("AT"), and the VAT amount
- Signature and name of both the seller and the buyer (for buyers who are self-assessment taxpayers)

The GDT will seek to deny expense deductions or input VAT claims if they are not supported by valid tax invoices.

VAT on e-commerce transactions

Over the past few years, the GDT has issued several pieces of legislation to begin taxing e-commerce activities carried out by non-residents, starting with the E-Commerce Law in 2019. After several delays, the implementation of VAT on e-commerce activities began in April 2022.

E-commerce activities refer to the online purchase, sale, rent, or exchange of goods or services, including commercial activities. Examples include the supply of software and other related services, online shopping or auctions, advertising, website hosting, data retrieval, and the consumption of digital products and/or content via downloading, real-time streaming, subscription, or other means.

For business to business e-commerce transactions, there is a reverse charge mechanism for the payment of VAT on imported digital goods and services, whereby the resident business is responsible for remitting the tax to the GDT.

However, this mechanism does not work for business to end customer e-commerce transactions. Thus, the GDT has introduced a simplified VAT registration procedure for non-resident taxpayers, who are then expected to declare and pay the VAT on such transactions to the GDT.

VAT on tangible fixed assets that are no longer in use

The GDT has specified rules for the application of VAT on the sale or disposal of tangible fixed assets that are no longer in use (defined as those that are still being maintained but have not been used in the business operations for at least one year).

- Sales of the assets (including as scrap) are subject to 10% VAT, regardless of whether an input VAT credit was claimed at the time of purchase.
- Disposals of assets that are destroyed, damaged, or have no sales value are not subject to 10% VAT, provided that there is clear evidence of the disposal. For assets with an accounting net book value (“NBV”) of KHR200,000 or more (approx. US$50), entities must provide the GDT with at least 10 working days’ advance notice so that a tax official can witness the disposal.
- Charitable contributions (as stated in Article 16 of the LOT) of the assets for which the taxpayer has already claimed an input VAT credit are not treated as sales subject to 10% VAT and TOI if they are:
 - Class 2 tangible fixed assets that have been used in the business for over three years with an accounting NBV of no more than KHR1 million (approx. US$250); or
 - Class 3 or 4 tangible fixed assets that have been used in the business for over five years with an accounting NBV of no more than KHR2 million (approx. US$500).
- Class 1 tangible fixed assets (whether newly built or purchased) that have not yet been put into use in the business and for which an input VAT credit has been claimed are not treated as sales for VAT purposes. If a class 1 tangible fixed asset has been put into use in the business but has ceased to be used for more than one year, the taxpayer must notify the GDT of the appropriate reason for no longer using the asset to be exempt from the obligation to pay 10% VAT.

Capital Gains Tax

Cambodia introduced a capital gains tax (“CGT”) regime with the issuance of Prakas No. 346 dated 1 April 2020, which imposes CGT at a rate of 20% on the capital gains derived by resident physical persons and non-residents (both legal and physical). Implementation has been delayed several times and is now slated to begin on 1 January 2024.

The term “capital” refers to immovable property, financial leases, investment assets (including shares, bonds, and other securities), goodwill, intellectual property, and foreign currency. A capital gain is the taxable income from the sale or transfer of capital less allowable expenses. It is considered as realized at the time of:

- The sale or transfer of ownership of the assets;
- The registration of the transfer of ownership with the competent authority; or
- A final verdict of a court on the transfer of property.

For immovable property, taxpayers can opt to deduct as an allowable expense either 80% of the sales price or the actual cost. For other capital gains transactions, only the actual cost can be deducted. Capital losses are not allowed to be refunded and cannot be carried forward or used as an offset against other capital gains.

Personal Income Tax

Under the 2019 Financial law, Cambodia introduced a new personal income tax ("PIT") law that requires physical persons with taxable income (i.e. total income offset by expenses and other allowances) from their business and other activities, including from capital gains, interest, rental fees, royalties, and financial or investment property, to pay PIT.

However, as of the time of printing, a PIT regime has not yet been implemented, and there is no requirement or mechanism to submit a PIT return to the GDT. Currently, individuals pay TOS and FBT on their employment income via withholding by their employer (refer to the "Tax on Salary" section of this booklet for details).

Specific Tax on Certain Merchandise and Services

Overview

ST is a form of excise tax imposed on the importation or domestic production and supply of certain goods and services. Tax is levied once only; for imports, this is at the inward checkpoint, and for domestic goods, it is upon the sale from the factory if the products are locally produced.

We expect that, in light of the reduction in import duty tariffs as noted in the Customs Duty section, greater emphasis will be placed on excise tax in the future. Accordingly, it is likely that there will be a number of changes to the calculation and collection of ST.

Rates of tax

The ST amount due is calculated by applying the applicable rate to the applicable tax base, as per the table below (not an exhaustive list):

GOODS/SERVICES	RATE
Local and international air tickets sold in Cambodia	10%
Entertainment services	10%
Locally produced or imported cigarettes and cigars	20%
Locally produced or imported alcoholic beverages (excluding beer)	35%
Locally produced or imported beer	30%
Locally produced or imported non-alcoholic beverages	10%
Lubricant, brake oil, raw material for producing engine oil (imported)	10%
Local and international telecommunications services	3%
Locally produced cement	5%

Basis of taxation

For locally supplied goods, ST is calculated on the “ex-factory selling price”, which is defined as 90% of the selling price excluding VAT, PLT, and ST itself. For locally supplied services, the tax base is the invoice price of the services supplied.

For imported goods, ST is calculated inclusive of customs duty and the cost, insurance, and CIF value, excluding VAT.

Customs Duty

Import duties

There are a number of goods on which import duty applies when they are brought into Cambodia, with some exemptions, including goods temporarily imported into Cambodia, goods for personal use, goods exempted by international treaty, humanitarian aid, and imports for use by a QIP. Exemptions from import duty may also be granted by the CDC for specific industries.

Customs duty is levied on goods entering Cambodia at rates of from 0% to 35%. Cambodia is part of ASEAN and therefore party to the ASEAN Free Trade Agreement and Common Effective Preferential Tariff scheme. This requires ASEAN Member States to offer preferential tariff rates on a broad range of products originating from other ASEAN countries.

Accordingly, the customs duty rates in Cambodia have been reduced so that now many goods originating from other ASEAN countries have a maximum 5% import duty imposed.

Export duties

There are no export duties other than on a limited list of restricted products at rates of 2% to 10% as follows:

- Natural rubber
- Uncut precious gemstones
- Processed wood
- Fish, crustaceans, mollusks and other aquatic products

Other Taxes

Accommodation tax

AT is an indirect tax imposed on the supply of accommodation services at a rate of 2%, inclusive of other service charges and taxes except VAT and AT itself. AT must be charged by hotels, hotel apartments, motels, lodges, guesthouses, campgrounds and similar, but does not include the rental of houses or apartments.

Fiscal stamp tax

A fiscal stamp tax is due on advertising leaflets and banners, levied at different bands of rates, based on the dimensions of the advertising item, the number of letters, and whether the lettering is in Khmer only or includes a foreign language.

Patent tax

Patent tax is a registration tax that is paid by all business entities upon establishment of a business and by 31 March on an annual basis thereafter. Patent tax ranges from KHR400,000 to KHR5,000,000 (approximately US$100 to US$1,250) depending on the taxpayer's classification, and must be paid for each separate business activity, and for each branch located in a different province.

Property rental tax

House and land rental tax is set at 10% of gross rental income from the lease of buildings and land, when the lessor is an individual.

Property tax

Property tax is a direct tax imposed on the value of immovable property, including land and buildings, on property valued above KHR100 million (approx. US$25,000) at a rate of 0.1%. The property value is per the valuation issued by the Property Evaluation Commission.

Property taxpayers may be individuals or companies. Owners, possessors, or "final beneficiaries" of immovable property may be liable for the property tax. A final beneficiary includes those with the right to use the property, and so includes long-term lessees.

Public lighting tax

PLT is an indirect tax imposed on sales of alcohol and cigarettes at all stages of supply, on both imports and domestically-produced goods. All types of cigarettes, including e-cigarettes, and alcohol, including beer, grape wine and spirits, with the exception of palm wine, are subject to PLT.

The PLT rate is 3% but the basis used to calculate the tax varies as follows:

- Importers and manufacturers – The basis is the value of the product, excluding VAT and PLT itself.
- Resellers and distributors – The basis is 20% of the selling price, excluding VAT and PLT itself.

Registration tax

Also referred to as seal tax or stamp duty, registration tax is a tax imposed on the transfer of ownership or possession of certain types of property.

It is payable by the person who receives the ownership and is applied to the transfer value at rates as follows:

APPLIED ON:	REGISTRATION TAX RATE
Transfer of ownership of all immovable property, including buildings and other structures, and land, which also includes the contribution of immovable property as capital in kind into a Cambodian company	4%
Transfer of ownership of all means of transportation, including passenger vehicles	4%
Transfer of ownership or possession of shares in a Cambodian company	0.1%
Registration of “government contracts related to the supply of goods or services”	0.1%
Certain legal documents, such as for mergers and liquidations	KHR1,000,000

Certificates of incorporation are no longer subject to registration tax.

There are certain exemptions and relief available on the transfer of immovable property between relatives.

The tax base used to calculate the registration tax on the transfer of immovable property is the value set by the MEF for all cities and provinces in Cambodia.

Unused land tax

Land is determined to be unused if it does not have any structure on it or there is a structure, but it is unused. Unused land tax is levied on an annual basis at a rate of 2% on the market value per square meter, with the market value determined by the Unused Land Valuation Commission. The unused land tax is paid annually by the landowner. Since the introduction of property tax, if property tax is paid on a piece of land, then unused land tax no longer applies.

Double Taxation Agreements

At present, Cambodia has double taxation agreements with 11 countries, nine of which are currently in effect, as shown in the table below.

These developments represent a major milestone in Cambodia's ongoing tax evolution, and in practical terms, include the reduction of withholding taxes on certain cross-border transactions.

PARTIES TO THE DTA	DATE OF EFFECT
Republic of Singapore	1 January 2018
Kingdom of Thailand	1 January 2018
Brunei Darussalam	1 January 2019
People's Republic of China	1 January 2019
Socialist Republic of Vietnam	1 January 2019
Hong Kong	1 January 2020
Republic of Indonesia	1 January 2021
Malaysia	1 January 2021
South Korea	1 January 2022
The Macau Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China	To be determined
Turkey	To be determined

In order to utilize DTA benefits, an application must be made to the GDT, which if approved, is valid for one year. Below is a comparison table showing the key points of the nine DTAs in effect at the time of printing.

	BRUNEI	CHINA	HONG KONG, SINGAPORE AND THAILAND	INDONESIA AND VIETNAM	MALAYSIA	SOUTH KOREA
Withholding tax rates on:
Dividends	10%	10%	10%	10%	10%	10%
Royalties	10%	10%	10%	10%	10%	10%
Interest	10%	10%	10%*	10%	10%	10%
Technical service fees	14%	10%	10%	10%	10%	10%

	BRUNEI	CHINA	HONG KONG, SINGAPORE AND THAILAND	INDONESIA AND VIETNAM	MALAYSIA	SOUTH KOREA
Permanent establishment time test:
Building site	183 days	9 mos.	6 mos.	183 days	9 mos.	9 mos.
Project services	183 days	-	183 days	183 days	183 days	6 mos.

For Thailand, if the recipient is a financial institution.*

The significant differences between the DTAs are highlighted below:

- Technical service fees: The Brunei DTA provides for technical service fees to be taxed at 14%, in contrast to the lower rate of 10% in the other DTAs.
- Article 3 Beneficial ownership issue: In the Singapore DTA, a trust is deemed to be the beneficial owner provided the trustee of the trust is liable for tax in Singapore in respect of the income, which is quite unusual, in that normally reduced rates of WHT under a DTA are available only to a beneficial owner eligible for treaty relief (i.e. a resident in the other Contracting State), to avoid “treaty shopping”.
- Article 5 Permanent establishment issue: The time period for determining whether there is a PE for building sites differs, with nine months in the China, Malaysia, and South Korea DTAs, as opposed to six months/183 days in the other DTAs. In addition, in the other DTAs, as in most DTAs, the furnishing of services for more than 183 days creates a PE, but the China DTA does not contain such a service PE provision. Thus, the furnishing of services by a Chinese company through employees or others in Cambodia will not create a PE, provided the activities are not wholly or partly performed through a fixed place of business. For example, a Chinese consulting company could send employees to work at a client’s office in Phnom Penh for unlimited periods of time, and this would not create a PE. (Note however that the fees received from the client would be subject to 10% WHT, and the individual employees may, depending on their circumstances, be subject to tax on their earnings.)

ASEAN Economic Community

The aim of the ASEAN Economic Community (“AEC”) is to provide regional economic integration by creating a single market across ASEAN countries, similar to the European Union. The purpose of this is to encourage economic growth in all participating countries by allowing the free flow of human resources, goods, services, and investment between countries.

From a tax perspective, the AEC will work towards establishing more agreements on the avoidance of double taxation by ASEAN countries and will aim to enhance the withholding tax structure by removing withholding taxes that may apply on interest, royalty, dividend, and service fee payments.

Transfer Pricing

Starting in 2018, Cambodia began implementing transfer pricing regulations concerning the allocation of income and expense between related parties, which are consistent with OECD guidelines, and require that transactions between related parties be at arm's length values, as determined under one of five acceptable methods:

- Comparable Uncontrolled Price
- Resale Price Method
- Cost Plus Method
- Transactional Net Margin Method
- Profit Split Method

Taxpayers having related party transactions are also required to have a transfer pricing report with the following content:

Corporate Background – including a description of the company, the corporate and ownership structure, the nature of the business, and summary financial information.

Business Analysis – including the competitive environment, the market and its trends, added value, and unique selling points.

Overview of Related Party Transactions – describing the nature and volume of such transactions and the pricing method used.

Functional Analysis – describing the activities performed by each party to the related party transactions.

Economic Analysis – including a discussion and justification of the appropriate transfer pricing method, and an analysis of comparable prices for the related party transactions.

Conclusion – including an identification of the acceptable range of arm's length prices.

As discussed under deductible expenses in the "Tax on Income" section, the interest rate on a loan from a related party is exempt from compliance with the arm's length principle if the entity has the requisite loan transaction supporting documents—loan agreements, business plan or current and forecasted financial statements along with the purpose of the borrowing and explanations, and Board of Directors' resolution. Therefore, a transfer pricing report may not be required.

A cash advance transaction that an entity has with a related party that has a maturity of less than one year is not considered to be a loan transaction and thus the interest rate will be exempt from compliance with the arm's length principle.

Qualified Investment Projects

Some types of investments may be eligible to be approved as a QIP by the CDC. QIP companies are entitled to choose between two basic sets of incentives:

Option 1: Exemption from TOI

The QIP is entitled to an exemption from TOI for from three to nine years, depending on the industry and level of investment, from the time of earning its first income.

After the TOI exemption period, the QIP is entitled to pay TOI at reduced rates for the subsequent six years as follows: 25% of the normal rate for the first two years, 50% for the next two years, and 75% of the normal rate for the last two years.

This option also includes:

- PTOI exemption during the TOI exemption period;
- MT exemption provided that an independent audit report has been carried out; and
- Import tax exemption, unless otherwise provided in other laws and regulations.

Option 2: Special Depreciation

- Deduction of capital expenditure through special depreciation as stated in the tax regulations in force, which, at the time of writing, is 40% in the first year of use of an asset in addition to the normal tax depreciation charge (see further details under "Depreciation" in the "Tax on Income" section);
- Eligibility to deduct up to 200% of specific expenses incurred for up to nine years, depending on the industry and level of investment;
- PTOI exemption for a specific period of time based on the industry and level of investment;
- MT exemption provided that an independent audit report has been carried out; and
- Import tax exemption, unless otherwise provided in other laws and regulations.

In addition to the incentives of both options:

Export QIPs and supporting industry QIPs are entitled to customs duty, ST, and VAT exemptions on importations of construction materials, construction equipment, production equipment, and production inputs.

Domestic-oriented QIPs are entitled to customs duty, ST, and VAT exemption on importations of construction materials, construction equipment, and production equipment. Incentives for production inputs will be determined in the Law on Financial Management and/or by Sub-Decree.

QIP companies that operate more than one QIP activity (that have different tax exemption periods) are required to register each activity for a separate VAT TIN, file separate tax returns, and have separate books of accounts and records for each of the activities.

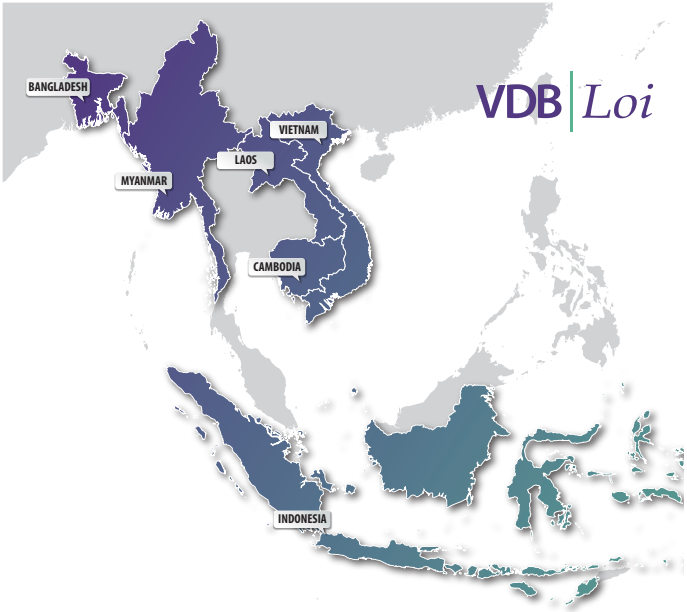

Penalties

Tax penalties are imposed for violations of the LOT and its regulations, ranging from 10% to 40% of the tax amount due, together with interest that is charged at 1.5% per month.

Generally, ordinary negligence is subject to a penalty of 10% of the unpaid taxes, while serious negligence is subject to 25%. Obstructing the operations of the tax administration, fraud, or other criminal acts carry more substantial penalties of 40% of the unpaid taxes.

Other penalties may include fines, closure of the business, and potentially, criminal sanctions according to the nature and severity of the offense. Repeat offenses generally garner more severe penalties.
